A Former Canton Tough Arrested for Burglary at Urichsville-Other Arrests.

A special to the Cincinnati Enquirer from Uhrichsville, says:
"This city has been infested by a gang of thieves who have been difficult to chase down until until this week. They enticed some small boys to assist them and keep watch while the hardware store of A. M. watch while the hardware store of A. M. Leffler was being burglarized. A roadster giving his name Thomas Owen alias "Shamrock," secured the assistance of Manly Long, aged 16; Frank Scott, 16; and Rick McFarren, 15. The plunder consisted of about $20 in cash and knives revolvers, &c, The boys were arrested, and the investigation showed that Stamrock was a member of a gang that robbed D. C. A PURE FOOD BILL.

Before the Ohio Legislature. Obio State Journal.

A bill for the preservation of the public health, and to provide against fraud and adulteration in food, drink and drugs has been introduced in the Legislature at Co-lumbus. This bill is intended to prevent the adulteration of food and drink, and the adulteration of food and drink, and should it become a law, would no doubt go a great way toward protecting the public against the manufacturers of Alum and Ammonia baking powders, who are flooding the State as well as the country generally with their unwholesome product. The leading medical authorities everywhers condemn the use of Alum in baking powders.

The Chicago Tribune, referring to the question of legislation on Alum and Ammonia baking powders, says: "It deals in a direct manner with an evil that must be cut down."

Following is a partial flat of the names

Following is a partial fist of the names of the brands sold in this state that have been examined and found to contain either Alum or Ammonia. Many of the Alum and Ammonia powders are labeled and advertised as "ab-olutely pura" in order to mislead the public:

"Kenton," "Calmost," "Crown," "Glimax," Chicago Yeast," "Grant's Bon Bon," "Hotel," Snow Drift," "Campbells," Cook's Favorite," "Forest Gity," "Zipp's Crystal," "Silver Star."

In addition to the above list there is a multitude of brands sold with a prize, It is safe to reject all baking powders sold with a prize, as the tests show they are composed largely of Alum and cost but a few cents a pound. Also refuse any baking powder sold for twenty-five cents a pound, or less; it is sure to contain Alum, Surely no hing but their cheapzess could induce the public to experiment with these impure powders, at the risk of hea'th. Aside from the question of health or wholesomeness of these condamned powders, and viewed from the standpoint of economy alone, a pure cream of tarter baking powder like "Dr. Price's" from its of economy alone, a pure cream of tarter baking powder like "Dr. Price's" from its greater known strength and unquestioned purity will prove more economical to the user in every way.

THE EARTH TREMBLED

A Car Load of Powder in a Moving Train

Explodes With Great Violence and Wrecks Seventeen Cars.

A Canton Youth Badly Hurt and May Die

An Engineer, Fireman and Brakeman Sustain Serious Burns—A Torrible Wreck at a Point Just West of North

Lawrence-The Particulars. The earth trembled and windows tat tled in Canton last evening and as no report could be heard it was thought by many to be a visitation of an earthquake. Wives went all over the house to see what had dropped and janitors of large buildinge, after investigation were in a quandry to know what had really happened. The cause of the disturbance was fifteen miles away and as it was all over in a minute no serious damage to Canton property resulted.

The first section of freight train No. 75 was bowling along a couple of miles west of North Lawrence, and was making a run of 35 miles an hour. Conductor D. M. Long was running the train, which was a local, and had taken on 24 cars of dirt at Crestline to be used at the M. & C. junction, near Massillon. Five other cars were taken on at Orrville and were taken in next to the engine. It was two of these cars that caused all of the trouble. As the train was running along past the Samuel Baer farm, west of North Lawrence, the fireman seld he thought there was some fire in the car next to the engine. He had just made, the remark when an awful explosion occurred, and everybody that was within 100 yards of the train was perceptibly shocked, Among the cars taken on at Orrville was one labeled merchandise. The merchandise referred to was 417 kegs of powder, containing 30 pounds of the explosive each. Now there is a rule of the company that no powder or other explosive shall be placed where there is a probability of it being disturbed in any way. This car of powder was for the Canton Hardware Co., of this city. There were way bills for all, but the conductor says that while he knew that explosives were not allowed to be put next to the engine, and should not be nearer than six cars removed, allowed these cars to be next to the engine, a direct violation of rules of the company. Whatever theory may be advanced will not militate against the fact that the kegs of powder were directly next to the engine.

Engineer E. R. Colvin, Frieman Tom McCann and Head Breakman W. W. Rockhill were in the engine when an awful explosion occurred in the car directly behind the engine. All three of the men were knocked down by the force of the concussion. Fireman McCaun was at work shoveling coal into the furnace when the explosion came, and he was very badly injured. He was thrown against the furnace and contact with the furnace added to the burns and bruises he had already received by the explosion. The noise of the explosion was heard for a great distance and the car in which the large quantity of powder had exploded was blown into splinters. A NEWS DEMOCRAT man drove from Massillon to the scene of the wreck last night. Upon arriving there before 10 o'clock everything was in an awful condition.

When the explosion took place in the first car, a second car that also contained powder and was coupled on directly back of the first car exploded with a terrible report and added to the destruction already accomplished.

A peculiar feature of the sifair was the manner in which the cars acted after the explosion. It would be supposed that the cars would have been blown clear off the track, but while there was nothing left of them that had the semblance of a car, except the trucks, the trucks did not leave the track but stayed on until a bridge was reached, about 300 yards from the scene of the explosion. At this point the engineer had regained his feet and had shut off the motive power, intending to stop. As seen as he did so the crush of the back cars was too much for the trucks and the frail pieces of wood connecting them, to stand, and they left the track-The engine pulled a draw-head from the platform of the car and did not do down in the general destruction, but seventeen cars of the train commenced to pile up and soon the iron bridge gave way. The trouble was augmented by the giving way of the bridge and the gully was in moment filled with cars and they piled up about 30 feet in height. There is a single track at this point and a more effectual wreck to block traffic could not be imagined. After it was all over it was found that the three men in the engine were badly injured. Engineer Celvin sustained burns about the face and arms, but is not dangerously injured. He is 37 years of age, married, and resides at Crestline. Fireman Tom McCann was badly burned and when seen by a NEWS-DEMO-CRAT representative was suffering awful agony. The flash from the explosives had burned his face and hands in a terrible manner and as he was thrown against the boiler his injuries were made much worse. He is aged 25 years, is unmarried and lives at Alliance.

Brakeman Rockhill was not as badle hurt as his friends. He sustained some injuries to his head and was burned to some degree but not dangerously. He is 31 years of age, resides at Alliance and has a wife and family.

These three men were taken in the en gine to North Lawrence, where they were quartered at the Pollock House where Dr. Neal Hardy attended them and J. J. Pollock, a fellow workman, lent every aid possible to relieve their sufferings.

CANTON BOY INJURED.

On the car which took three newspape men to Massillon was Durfes Border who had in his pocket a telegram from the scene of the wreck, stating that his son was injured and wanted to see him and that it was necessary for him to be prompt. He was prompt and arrived at the bedside of his son a short time after he received word of the disaster. Charles M. Borden and Sam McDermit had been to the Orrville fair and were getting back home on the freight train. Both were in gondola cars, one car removed from the gondola cars, one car removed from the and Chest cured by Mrs. Dr. Harkey cars that exploded. back to the front end of car and did not feel the effects of the explosion to the extent that his companion did. Borden was standing up, holding to a brake post when the explosion took place, and there was no escape for him. He was knocked back into the car, which, after running the distance to the bridge, piled up with the others. When found Borden was lying between two cars and was in a semi-unconscious state. He was picked up and carried up the hill to the Samuel Baer homestead, where he was put in bed. He repeatedly asked for his father, who was at one advised by wire as stated in the foregoing. Dr. Robinson, of North Lawrence, assisted by Dr. Hardy, dressed his injuries. It was found that his right arm

PORCE OF THE EXPLOSION. The work of destruction by the explosion was complete. At the point where it occurred the track was not torn up, but small pieces of car timber and bits of powder cans are strewn on either side of the track. The NEWS-DEMOCRAT man walked into a field about 500 yards and pieces of the wreck had been thrown to that distance, while farther on small pieces of the cans which contained the powder could be found.

CLEARING UP THE WRECK

Two wrecking crews, one from Orrville and the other from Alliance were speedily dispatched to the scene of the wreck, and work at either end of it was commenced The track was torn up for a distance of about 250 feet, but this was relaid quickly and the work of removing the cars was undertaken. It was a big job and at 5 o'clock this morning the wrecking crews were still working. A difficulty was the fact that the bridge had been destroyed While it took some time to clear up the wreckage of the cars, it took longer to construct a bridge, so that trains did not run from the west through Canton at all during the greater part of the day. All trains, until 2 o'clock this afternoon were sent around at Orrville by way of Kent and down to Alliance on the C. & P. railroad, which is controlled by the Pennsylvania company. Traffic was resumed at a late hour this afternoon, the wreck being partially cleared away and a tem porary bridge having been constructed The property loss was enormous,

CONDUCTOR LONG TALKS.

Conductor D. M. Long was seen by th NEWS-DEMOCRAT man at the Baer real lence, near the scene of the wreck. He is a very foxy man and as he stated, had been in a number of scrapes before, so he knew how to act. He said that he had way bills for all of the five cars that were taken on at Orrville and says also that the way bills state specifically the contents of the cars so that there is no occasion for a mistake on the part of the conductor. He says, however, that he never looks at the way bills except as far as necessary to identify the cars described, and pays no attention to the contents of the care. He states that he believes there is some rule which forbids making up train with explosives closer that six cars from the engine, but that the rule was not lived up to any more. He does not believe, at least he says he doesn't, that sparks from the engine caused the explosion, but says that some one must have set the car on fire. When asked how Borden and McDermit happened to be on the train he said that "he was no supposed to know they were on at all," Some of the railroad men advance the theory that some discharged men at Orre ville arranged to wreck the train and used a fuse to get fire to the powder. It is not probable, however, that this is the proper heory. It is quite evident that fire was communicated to the powder from sparks from the engine, and it is also quite evident that had the rules of the company regarding explosives been carried out to the full letter, the explosion would not have taken place. It was an oversight on the part of Condctor Long which was a fatal one. It is fortunate indeed that no one was killed outright for the explosion was distinctly heard for miles. In Massillon and Orrville windows shook and at the farm houses near the scene of the wreck many windows were broken.

Poisoned by Berefula

Is the sad story of many lives made miserable through no fault of their own. Scrofula is more especially than any other a hereditary disease and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of fostal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by its powerful effect on the blood, expels all trace of disease and gives to the vital fluid the quality and color of health. BUDDED INTO MANHOOD.

Happy Event at the Home of Mr. Edgar Strassner. Edgar Strassner, the handsome clerk in the Globe clothing house, budded into manhood yesterday, entering upon his twenty-first birthday. Before the day closed about fifty of his young friends, in cluding Thayer's Military Band, fully equipped, assisted him across the line of boyhood with grand explosions of harmonious sounds. The musical talents were in abundance and of very rare ability. all adding something of a tribute for the happy occasion. Edgar's brother, Charles, the benedict, arrived in the afternoon with his bride, and then made their presence invaluable to the newly fledged young man, who will now cast his first vote and as sume responsibilities hitherto anticipated, His sister, Mrs. D. A. Frantz, of Lebanon. Pa., and family arrived too late for the grand occasion, but extended their private congratulations and capped the climax of happy exultation. His aunt, Mrs. Leffler, of Millersburg, Pa., rendered valuable assistance throughout the day. The company was handsomely treated to cakes and choice fruits by the young man. Edgar is now in his prime and will strictly attend to his "one price" sales, ever ready to greet his many friends. THE OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

What a Gentleman, Who Has Been in Many Parts of the County, Says. A NEWS-DEMOCRAT man talked with Amos B. Mase, of Bethlehem township today, Mr. Mase has a wide acquaintance and has been in many parts of the county during the past few days, working hard for the Democratic ticket, from top to bottom. He is one of the kind of Democrats that are always found supporting the ticket and is particularly active this year. Said he: "The ticket that was nominated at the Democratic county convention is one of the best ever presented to the voters of Stark county for their support. The outlook is very flattering for Democratic success and everywhere I have been I find the ticket receiving enthusiastic support. Democrats will not be led away from their ticket this year by Republican misrepresentations and delusive promises. The ticket is a splendid one and is receiving the support that it deserves."
